“ My Grandma was very sweet but also had a feisty side. She made me laugh with some of the things she would say and not realize how it sounded.

The things i remember most about her was her LOVE for coffee.

She always finished the crossword puzzle in the Sunday morning newspaper before her eyesight started failing. She loved playing scrabble and rook(she was very competitive.) She also loved watching football and always picked the opposite team that my Grandpa picked. Typing this now, i realize that my competitive nature and love for football came from her.

She was a great cook. Her cabbage rolls and gravy were the best. She still helped with her gravy during the Holidays from her wheelchair until the last few years. We never felt like we could make it is as good as she did.

I am already missing her so much but i know she is in a better place enjoying her coffee, normal food, reading again and doing her crosswords.

I love you Grandma!!

“ Vickie, I am so sorry to hear of your mom's passing. Yes, she lived a long life but that doesn't make losing her any easier. You were always a good daughter and I am sure she appreciated every visit and every kind word you spoke. Love, Marianne
