Crista Gay McCuan, 48, of Raleigh, North Carolina, peacefully passed away at Hospice on 12-10-19. She was born at the Little Rock Air Force Base in Arkansas. Crista was a free spirit who loved nature and animals, and her favorites were bunnies and birds. She especially enjoyed the hot weather, and the closer she could live to the beach the better.

“ I never saw Christa without a smile on her face. Always upbeat and kind. Let us remember her for the kindness she showed to all. She was there for me when i lost my sister to this dreaded disease called cancer, while she quietly battled it on her own. A true friend, and not gone, only transformed. She will be missed by many, but her suffering has now turned into the light of God. Shine on bright star.... shine on.
